

Mediation Training Programme

Highly practical, with coaching and both instructor and peer feedback, this course will help you develop real-world professional skills and techniques as an accredited facilitative and evaluative mediator.

Introduction to Mediation and Mediation Advocacy

We will provide you with a detailed introduction to facilitative and evaluative mediation with hands-on coaching and feedback provided throughout role play exercises. As part of the introduction, delegates will gain an understanding of when the evaluative approach will be more appropriate.

Practical Evaluative Mediation Skills

You will develop your technique as an evaluative mediator, building on the skills in traditional facilitative mediation and the knowledge of evaluative mediation. You will be guided through a variety of practical situations and will learn how to deal with challenges that are specific to the evaluative mediation process. These include how to use your sector skills and experience.

Why should I do this course?

Successful completion of the course will allow you to use the title 'RICS Accredited Evaluative Mediator' and you will be entitled to apply for admission to the RICS International Panel of Dispute Resolvers and Expert Witnesses. This would allow you to be considered for appointment by RICS to act as a mediator.
